

Lottery bill passes

BY TRACI BONNEY

Mississippians may hit the jackpot in November, thanks to the State Legislature.

The House of Representatives passed a measure Wednesday that will allow voters to decide whether or not the state should have a lottery.

The measure, which passed 93-25, will give voters the opportunity to remove from the state constitution a provision that forbids lotteries of any form in Mississippi. It needed 75 votes to pass.

"The measure passed comfortably, in fact rather high. There was some talk that the vote would be close, but that didn't happen," Rep. J.P. Compreta commented.

"It's finally passed now, after all these years. The lottery itself hasn't passed, mind you, but the measure allowing the voters to amend the constitution has.

"So, it's on the November 3 general election ballot. If the amendment passes, the Legislature will have to come back during its 1993 session and pass the necessary measures to have a lottery."

The amendment measure passed 37-12 last week in the state Senate before going to the House. It needed 33 votes to pass.

Coincidentally, the Louisiana state lottery started its new computerized game today. The first grand prize for the Louisiana Lotto is guaranteed to be $1 million, but some officials are predicting that the game will generate a $5 million prize in the future.

Mike Ladner fills position of Veteran Services Officer

BY TRACI BONNEY

Board of supervisors president Mike Ladner has added a new hat to his collection — that of Veterans Service Officer.

Ladner is filling the post vacated by Paul Moody earlier this month, until the seven local service organizations involved in selecting a replacement can make a recommendation to the board of supervisors.

The Veterans Service Officer helps military veterans, their spouses or dependents in obtaining whatever services or benefits are due them, Ladner said.

"I'm fortunate enough to have the experience to come in here and help the veterans while the position is vacant," he commented. Ladner once served as VSO for 7½ years.

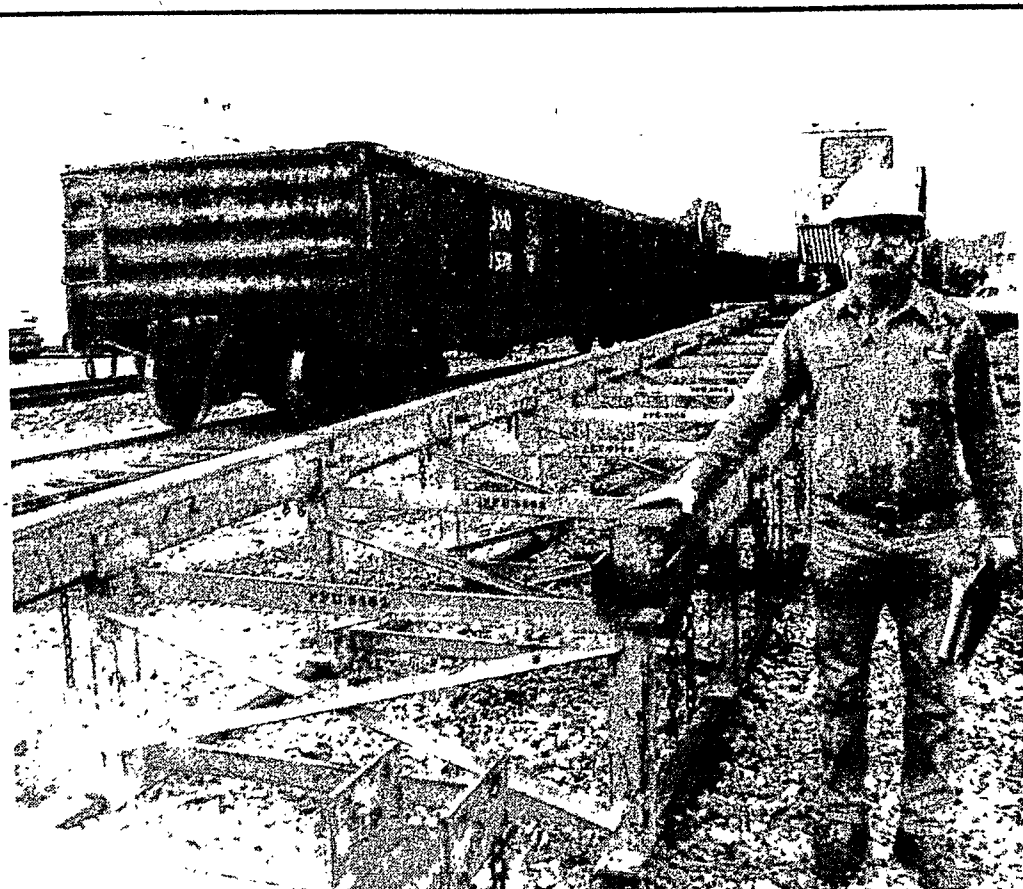

Last year, the Veterans Service Office assisted 4,650 veterans and widows in Hancock County. More than $4 million in veterans pensions were paid in the county in 1991.

"You can't just take someone off the street and put them in here," Ladner added. "If that person tells a veteran something, and it's wrong, we'll have some trouble, I can guarantee you that."

The board of supervisors is taking applications for the VSO position until January 28. Applicants must be honorably discharged or released U.S. veterans, or the surviving spouses of deceased veterans. They must also be Hancock County residents, must pass a physical exam, be able to type at least 40 words per minute, have general administrative knowledge, and attend mandated schools and

Volunteers sought for career/college night set Feb. 25

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The 1992 career/college night for Hancock County students will be Tuesday, Feb. 25, starting 5:30 p.m., Hancock High School, Stennis Drive.

John Kolodziej, coordinator for the career/college night, sponsored by Hancock High, Bay High, Our Lady Academy and St. Stanislaus, welcomes all area school students and parents to attend this year's event.

Kolodziej is also requesting graduates of any university or college to participate in the program, which is part of the county's Adopt-A-School project.

"The important thing is to get graduates to represent their respective colleges or universities, and be on hand to talk and advise students," Kolodziej said.

Interested members of the community, who would be willing to make a presentation about their career field, are also invited to participate.

Kolodziej is an engineering manager for Sverdrup Technology, Inc., at Stennis Space Center, and he and his company are involved in the Adopt-A-School

Labat family honored by NAACP

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The 11th annual Hancock County NAACP Supper Theatre honored the Labat family of Bay St. Louis Saturday with the presentation of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. award to deceased patriarch Joseph "Papa Joe" Labat.

"Papa Joe" was one of ten children, born to Joseph Labat and Celestine Lanoux, members of the community's pioneer families.

"Papa Joe" was an early 20th century builder. His works include: St. Rose de Lima Church and rectory; Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church; five Catholic churches in the Rocky Hill, Fenton and Kiln communities; Gulfside Assembly Chapel and buildings; the early buildings of St. Augustine Seminary; renovations at Christ Episcopal Church; and numerous homes along the beachfront and throughout the Bay-Waveland and Clermont Harbor areas.

Labat employed many people from this area, many who went on to be professional carpenters in their own right. These men include: Raphael Favre, Clement Hazeur, Leslie Curry, Albert Curry, Oliver Cospelich, Oscar Barabino, and several Labat brothers, among others.

"Papa Joe" was able to provide economic development for the local businesses because of his extensive contracting works.

Labat was selected as this year's Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. award recipient not only because of his professional contributions to the Hancock com-

Bay pilot's death remains a mystery

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Seven months following the airplane crash and death of Bay resident Roy Stewart, little is known.

The National Transportation Safety Board's (NTSB) preliminary report on the June 26, 1991 instructional flight, gives no explanation at this time for the crash.

Stewart and flight student Donald C. Rayborn, 20, of Summit, Miss., were found dead hours after leaving John E. Lewis Field in McComb, Miss. on an instructional flight.

Stewart taught flying lessons from the Pike County Airport after closing his flight school at Stennis Air Park last spring. He was a member of the Experimental Aircraft Association.

The aviation accident report states an eyewitness having "observed the plane flying eastbound when the right wing banked 90 degrees, the nose pitched down vertically, and the airplane disappeared below the tree line."

The preliminary report forms no hypothesis on cause of the crash. It lists facts and data.

It does mention, "Visual meteorological conditions prevailed at the time."

The Beech 77 aircraft is listed as destroyed and trees are cited as the only property damaged by the crash.

According to the National Transportation Safety Board Washington, D.C. office, a final report will be issued within a year from the date of the accident.

SENIOR CITIZENS HAPPENINGS

By Eve McDonald

HAPPY NEW YEAR

We are all back at our classes and thinking up new fun things to do this year. We are also trying to understand:

—new Medicare/Medigap insurance changes

—health care reform proposals

—which Democrat/Republican presidential candidate is best for our country

—the economy in depression

—whether it is more important to have Momus parade or to deny a black/Jew/Italian membership in a social club in New Orleans because of their race, religion, or nationality.

FRESH FRUIT

Thanks to our Bay Police we will have some fresh fruit for our Meals-on-Wheels and lunch folks here at the Center. Lt. Oso and Officer Jimmy Clark have made arrangements in Gulfport to pick up five cases of fruit a month for us. We sure have some good friends and caring people around here. Thanks a bunch!

Lora Maderos will be the executive director of our Human Resource Agency. This is the agency that has the contract for our programs and for the Child Development Program. We are very happy to have her, because she is already familiar with our operation and has been the director of the Child Development Program for several years. Lora has also been a social worker for the Department of Human Services. I will be working under her supervision effective February 1 and will only be working 60 percent of the time.

After starting the senior citizens program 20 years ago, I am happy to start turning over the responsibility to a younger qualified person. I will still be director of the Senior Center, so I won't have immediate withdrawal symptoms.

MEDICAP INSURANCE

January 1 started the new rules for Medicare supplement insurance. It will be much easier to compare policies and choose the one you think serves you best.

The basic coverage has to be provided by all policies. This will protect many seniors from policies that have not been up front with what they did not cover. It will also be easier to compare prices and coverage. Companies will not be able to sell multiple policies with duplicate coverage.

If you have any questions about your Medicare supplement insurance, we will be happy to try to assist you. We do not recommend any company, we just try to help you decide.

CENTER HOLIDAYS

We will be closed Monday, Jan. 20 and Mardi Gras Day, March 3. Meals-on-Wheels clients will receive cold meals for those days.

We will have a party Thursday, Feb. 27, so mark your calendars. We hope to have a band, costumes, throws, etc.

Grigsbys featured at Faith Assembly revival

Revival services at Faith Assembly of God in Kiln featuring evangelists Paul and Elaine Grigsby of Malvern, Ark., will begin at 10:45 a.m. Jan. 26. Services will continue nightly at 7 p.m. through Jan. 31.

The church is located at the corner of highways 43 and 603 in Kiln. Pastor E. L. Stewart

Grigsby has ministered in Panama, El Salvador, Greece, Venezuela and Israel.

In December 1989, the Grigsbys participated in a crusade in Mexico City. They have traveled all across North America for the past ten years.

They have cassettes of their ministry of music and singing that can be purchased at the revival crusades. Their newest release, "Let's Have A Revival," will be available.

Elaine and Paul Grigsby invites the public to attend one or all of the services.

In addition to pastoral, Rev.

Diamondhead homebuilders form regulatory organization

BY TRACI BONNEY
Homebuilders in Diamondhead were concerned about lack of governmental regulation on construction in their area, so they did something about it.

They decided to regulate themselves. The Diamondhead Homebuilders Association has been in operation about six months. President Ken Kipping, an architect, said the organization has 19 members who adhere to a strict code of ethics and subject all their projects to an inspection process that meets FHA and VA standards.

"We hope to be strong enough to have some say in the future of zoning and building regulation in the county," he stated.

Currently, the county has no zoning or building permit process to regulate how or where a building is constructed.

The DHA meets monthly and also holds an annual meeting at which officers are elected. The members discuss local issues that affect them, and have as speakers real estate agents and professionals in other fields related to home construction. They also use the meetings to get to know prospective members.

The organization has a board of review, which presides over adherence to the ethics code and screens potential members to be certain they meet DHA qualifications.

"We're very strict about participation in the organization and attendance of meetings," Kipping commented.

The organization has several ideas in mind for the coming years.

"This year, we plan to kick off a parade of homes project to showcase the area. We hope it will become an annual event."

The organization also plans to fund and implement training seminars for DHA members and the subcontractors that work with them.

As to the possibility that Diamondhead will one day incorporate as have Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Kipping said, "I feel we will play a key role in future incorporation efforts. We hope our input will be solicited."

Waveland — Mrs. Odeal Morris, Macedonia Baptist; Ethel Simpkins, Mount Chapel Baptist; and Luther Johnson, St. Rock Methodist.

This year was the first time these awards were given. Letters were sent to the churches' pastors asking them to designate one honoree who exemplified commitment, dedication and faithful service to his or her church.

The honorees were recognized on behalf of their churches with plaques from the NAACP.

Recipient of the Martin Luther King Jr. Award was the late Joseph "Papa Joe" Labat Sr. The posthumous award recognized his extensive contributions to the community through his work in construction.

Other highlights of the dinner included several musical presentations; a creative tribute dance by Street Image, a group of local honors students; a keynote address by attorney Constance Slaughter-Harvey; and a rendition of King's last speech by Anthony Quinn of Picayune, a Stennis Space Center employee.

According to Shakira Shabazz, Quinn's performance was an added attraction because it wasn't on the program. She said Quinn broke another commitment in order to attend the dinner.

"He didn't read the speech; he just knew it. He started from the back of the room and walked to the front, delivering this speech just as Dr. King would have. And because Mr. Quinn's voice sounds just like Dr. King's, heads were turning, people were looking; it was definitely the voice."

The dinner ended with the song "We Shall Overcome," sung by all in attendance.

munity, but also because of his many community activities.

He was among the early founders of the local chapter of the Knights of Peter Claver and later became one of the Grand Knights.

He was also a member of the Promote Brass Band, a volunteer fireman, and an active member of St. Rose de Lima Parish.

His architectural talents, service to the community and affable qualities established him as a respected member of the community for many, many years.

Labat married Leonore Fayard and together they reared 11 children. Of the 11, Veronica, Portia, Celestine and Victor were present to accept the award on behalf of their father. Sylvia Labat Randell and Alecia Labat Webster were not able to attend, and Inez, Fabian, Joseph Sumner, Lucien and Clothilde are deceased.

Although "Papa Joe" had no formal education, all 11 of his children went on to distinguish themselves in the halls of higher education by receiving bachelor's degrees and advanced degrees.

After a lengthy illness, "Papa Joe" died at the age 79 on February 13, 1947.

His descendants to date include, 22 grandchildren, 67 great-grandchildren; 80 great-great-grandchildren; and six great-great-great-grandchildren.

Help! Help! Help!

"Litter Free '93" is a slogan you will be hearing a lot in the coming months.

It is the slogan of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's beautification committee, which encompasses a Plan For Pride and Progress.

Our community has been plagued with litter for so many years, that many of the residents take it for granted that we have to continue to live that way. Some accept it as the status quo.

A combined effort by all residents can make a big difference and change those attitudes.

We have to look at the positive side, and address the problems of litter on a street-by-street basis.

One of the chamber's projects is for residents, businesses and organizations to adopt-a-street, neighborhood or section of roadway.

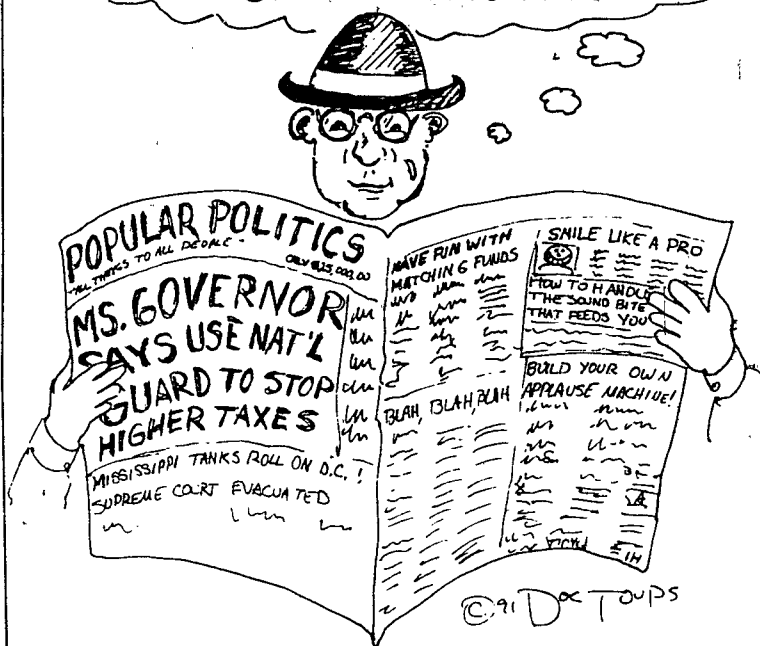

This is in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, Kiln, Catahoula, Pearlinton, Lakeshore, Clermont Harbor, Edwardsville, and every other community in Hancock County.

To find out details, call the chamber at 467-9048. Your help is needed, and will be greatly appreciated.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I thought we would have a few more days of good weather after all the dreary days last weekend.

The time is now for gardeners to begin to plan on what they are going to plant this spring.

It has been several years since I had a garden of any size, but I may try again this year.

I am hoping to get a few potatoes in the ground on Valentine's Day.

Many folks enjoy gardening, and nothing tastes better than fresh produce from one's own garden.

Congratulations are in order for David McDonald, who was named president of the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission.

McDonald has been a very active commissioner for many years, and I am sure he will do a fine job.

Other members are Oliver (Bud) Frierson, vice-president; Nancy Gex, secretary; Pete Beebe, treasurer; and Joe D. McCullough, Russell Elliott and Omar DeBever, commissioners.

The Port & Harbor commissioners and Harold "Buz" Olsen, executive director, have been working very hard trying to bring more industry to our county.

Jobs are important to our economy, and I am wishing our Port & Harbor officials the best in 1992.

FROM THE MISSISSIPPI HOUSE

By Representative J.P. Compretta

State's budgetary problems primary legislative concerns

The state's budgetary problems are a primary concern as the House of Representatives buckles down to work on a massive stack of bills and resolutions awaiting committee action in the weeks ahead.

The inauguration of Governor Kirk Fordice was among the highlights of the past week at the Capitol, along with the announcement of committee assignments in the House and introduction of a wide range of bills and resolutions. Legislators also received a special briefing on the state's cloudy financial outlook for the coming year.

Media representatives from throughout Mississippi gathered at the Capitol for Legislative Media Day on Thursday, Jan. 16. The program was sponsored jointly by the House and Senate to help newspaper editors, reporters and broadcasters stay more closely informed about the legislative process and key state issues. Major topics on this year's agenda included state finances, education, initiative and referendum, legislative reapportionment, and proposed changes in lobbying laws.

The House saw limited floor action as the newly appointed committees held organizational meetings and began work on the more than 170 bills and resolutions assigned to committee by the end of the week. The committees have a vital role in the legislative process, especially during the early weeks of a session. Their job, basically, is to study the bills, propose amendments as deemed necessary, and recommend which measures will go to the full House for consideration.

The House Insurance Committee received a detailed report from the director of the legislative PEER Committee, John Turcotte, on financial problems in the health insurance plan for state employees. Committee members also conferred with Commissioner of Insurance George Dale regarding the troubled workers' compensation program.

State finances is expected to be a dominant issue throughout the 1992 legislative session.

Like most states, Mississippi was hounded by revenue problems over the past fiscal year. State economists and other budget specialists agree money is tight again this year with little or nothing likely to be available from current revenue sources for new or expanded programs. And the situation may get worse before it gets better if state income fails to meet the budget estimate for the remainder of this fiscal year.

Tax Commission officials, in a presentation to the Legislature, reported that collections for the state's general operating fund were running nearly $3.3 million below the estimate for the first six months of the fiscal year starting July 1, 1991. Specialists cautioned that a significant shortfall in January's receipts would indicate a shortfall for the full year is probable.

State Treasurer Marshall Bennett joined tax officials and University Research Center economists in giving the rather bleak presentation. Governor Fordice was among these attending the session.

Earlier in the week, legislators joined citizens from across the state for the inauguration of the new governor. The ceremonies took place during a joint legislative session on the south side of the Capitol, with the oath of office administered by State Chief Justice Roy Noble Lee.

It was a cold, blustery day, but skies were clear and the inaugural speech received a mixed but generally warm reception from the mostly partisan crowd. The governor stressed the inaugural theme of "Together, Forward," placing special emphasis on what he called his "vision" of economic growth for Mississippi.

The governor gave few details of his legislative program in the seven-minute speech, but is expected to go before another joint legislative assembly later this month to unveil his specific proposals.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Beach is greatest natural resource

Dear Editor,

Word that our county supervisors plan to discuss our seawall problems with federal and state officials is encouraging. Congratulations to our supervisors.

Present plans to replenish only part of our beach are flawed because:

—The present seawall is over 60 years old and will not survive many years without beach protection. Replacing the seawall would be much more expensive than replacing the beach.

—Our beach area is the outstanding asset of our community. It should be properly developed for the enjoyment of all.

—Partial replenishment is not efficient because of mobilization cost.

—Partial replenishment will not last because of lateral movement of sand.

Proper development of our beach requires the participation of all areas of government (cities, county, state, and federal) and should include:

—Full replenishment of beach;

—Proper and adequate drainage, from the land side of Beach Boulevard, under the road, and across the beach;

—A continuous walking/jogging/bicycling path between the road and the beach; and —Installation of adequate parking and sanitary facilities. It is important that all citizens tell their public officials that they strongly support the proper development of our greatest natural resource.

Yours very truly,
Robert W. Breeden Jr.

Letter of praise to Bay Council overlooked the facts

Dear Editor,

Reference is made to the Letters to the Editor, Sea Coast Echo, January 19, 1992. I would like to comment on Mrs. Wilkerson's letter as follows:

First, I agree with Mrs. Wilkerson that Mr. Carroll's reply to Mayor Favre should receive public attention. I am of the opinion that Mayor Favre's letter of December 18, 1991 should also be published so that the public may have a more complete understanding of the nature of the subject matter.

Second, I should like to comment on the contents of Mr. Carroll's letter. I am afraid that Mr. Carroll has been badly misinformed about the way that this matter has been handled to date. The following pertinent facts explain this statement:

—The Mayor and City Council did not act to create the Blue Ribbon Commission, hire a consulting firm, authorize the gaming study or hire an impartial attorney until after a public outcry by a large segment of the population.

—This outcry was occasioned by the Mayor and Council attempting to change existing zoning laws to accommodate gambling immediately following passage of the State Gaming Act. The details of the Gaming Act were largely unknown to the public or local officials at that time.

—The impartial Blue Ribbon Commission appointed by the Mayor was dissolved by the Mayor at or about the time the consulting firm was hired. This action was greeted with dismay by the public. In other words, the committee was never allowed to function.

—During the consulting phase, the public was allowed input to the planning phases by means of workshops, progress reports, etc. This was the only period when "patience and foresight" were abroad in the land.

—The final Dockside Gaming

Study was dated Saturday, December 14, 1991. The Council met on Monday, December 16, 1991 and accepted the study by a majority of one vote. Two council members voted against this action because they did not have time to adequately study or comprehend a complicated, technical document. The public had little or no knowledge of these events, nor was any attempt made to notify them.

—As near as I can ascertain, copies of the Final Gaming Study have never been made available to the public. I would also like to call to public attention the paragraph commending the city for its charm and cultural heritage while commending the principals involved (including the dismissed Blue Ribbon Committee) for protecting these special features for years to come. Yet at the same time, the city is urging the adopting of changes to existing regulations to accommodate the construction of a gambling facility at the Bay Bridge site.

This site is adjacent to the beach front historical and cultural area and on the corner of the most dangerous traffic intersection in town. Does this conform to the statement in Mr. Carroll's letter that "these special features will be protected for generations to come?"

I very seriously doubt it. As a result of the above actions, the Mayor and several members of the Council have lost the confidence of a large segment of the population. This trust will not be restored until the Mayor and Council begin to treat the public in a more open manner.

I shall forward a copy of this letter to the Attorney General for his information and review.

Yours very truly,
W. S. Goldman

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS
A Weekly Editorial
From Mississippi Economic Council

Keep in touch with legislators during the session

During the next 100 days, 52 members of the Mississippi Senate and 122 members of the Mississippi House of Representatives will be struggling to solve immediate concerns and to lay the groundwork for an improved economic future for citizens.

Each senator and representative needs to hear from "the people back home" on the issues.

It is a political myth that members of the Mississippi Legislature do not care about concerns at the local level, or that a single person or business cannot have an impact in Jackson.

It is generally agreed that the best way to communicate with legislators is on a personal basis.

According to the Mississippi Economic Council, a personal meeting or a telephone call from someone in the local community, describing personal knowledge of the results of proposed legislation, is a very powerful influence on the senator or representative.

Here are a few tips for a successful meeting with a member of the legislature from MEC:

—Never attack the member personally. One can disagree and still be civil.

—Do not hesitate to meet with unsympathetic legislators because most politicians are always looking to win over new friends.

—Give the member a personal viewpoint of what the proposed legislation would mean to you or your business.

In writing letters, citizens should hold the content to one or two issues in each letter, referring to bill numbers when possible.

1 T. chopped parsley
Remove skin and bones from canned salmon. Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly with a fork (not a food processor.) Cover and chill in refrigerator. Serve with low-fat crackers or thinly sliced French bread. Makes 2 cups.

STADIUM SHRIMP

IN BEER
2 large garlic cloves, minced
1/2 t. salt
1 12-oz. bottle beer
1/2 to 1 t. crushed red pepper flakes

1/4 t. white pepper
1 lb. medium or large shrimp, in shell
2 T. minced shallots or green onion
1 T. tarragon or red wine vinegar
1 T. Dijon mustard
1 T. grainy mustard
1 T. olive oil
1 T. minced fresh tarragon or parsley

In a medium saucepan, stir together the garlic, salt, beer, red pepper flakes and white pepper. Cover, bring to a boil and simmer 3 minutes.

Stir in shrimp and quickly bring to a boil. Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer for 2 minutes. Pour shrimp and liquid into a heat-proof glass or ceramic bowl and cover tightly with plastic wrap. Refrigerate 1 hour or overnight.

Remove shrimp with a slotted spoon and pour liquid into a medium saucepan. Bring to a boil, and boil uncovered until reduced to 1/4 c., approximately 6 to 8 minutes.

Remove from heat and whisk in shallots, vinegar, Dijon, grainy mustard and oil. Pour sauce over shrimp. Cover and marinate. Make shrimp up to two days in advance, if desired. Stir in parsley before serving and serve with lots of napkins! Makes 6 servings.

TIME-OUT

CRAB QUESADILLAS
1 red pepper
2 green or yellow peppers
8 oz. red onion, peeled
Vegetable oil spray
2 t. cumin
1 c. well-picked crab (1/4 pound)

4 jalapeno peppers, pickled or fresh, seeded, minced
1 c. shredded Monterey Jack cheese
8 flour tortillas
1/4 t. salt
1 T. corn oil
3 T. reduced calorie sour cream

5 T. plain non-fat yogurt
Remove stems and seeds from red and green peppers. Cut peppers in half crosswise and cut into thin slivers. Halve onion lengthwise. Place cut side down and slice 1/8-inch thick. Separate slices.

Spray a 10-inch skillet with vegetable oil spray. Heat on medium high for 2 minutes. Add peppers, onion and cumin. Reduce heat to medium and sauté vegetables until softened, stirring, about 10 minutes.

Brush one side of a tortilla with a bit of oil and place oiled side down on a dinner plate. Sprinkle 2 T. cheese over tortilla, leaving a 1-inch space around edge. Spoon 1/4 each of the cooked peppers and crab over cheese; sprinkle with jalapenos to taste, 2 T. of cheese and salt. Dampen edges of the filled tortilla and of a second tortilla with water. Place tortillas together and firmly press edges to seal. Don't worry if a bit of the edge pops open. Lightly brush top of tortilla with oil and cover with plastic wrap. Assemble remaining quesadillas.

Heat the same skillet on medium heat. Slide the quesadilla into the pan and sauté 3 to 4 minutes until golden brown, pressing top with a spatula to evenly cook and shaking pan to prevent sticking.

To brown second side, lift edge of quesadilla with a spatula, tilt pan and slide quesadilla onto a dinner plate. Flip quesadilla over and brown second side for about 4 minutes. Cut quesadilla into 6 wedges, loosely wrap in foil and keep warm in a 225-degree F. oven while cooking the remaining quesadillas, if desired. Mix sour cream and yogurt together. Serve with warm quesadillas. Makes 24 wedges. Serves 6.

HALF-TIME BAGUETTES WITH CREAMY SHRIMP MELT
3 mini baguettes, about 9-inches long
3 to 4 artichoke hearts, drained well, quartered
4 oz. white onion, peeled, quartered

3 T. medium sweet sherry
1 c. grated Parmesan cheese
1 c. plain non-fat yogurt
1 T. paprika
1 t. freshly ground black pepper

1/2 t. Tabasco sauce
2 5-oz. pkgs. frozen, cooked salad shrimp, thawed, drained well

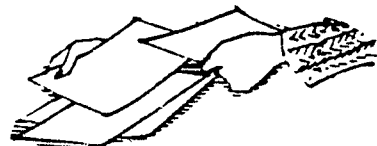

2 T. minced fresh parsley
Preheat oven to 425 degrees F. Cut baguettes in half crosswise and lengthwise. Scoop centers of baguettes, leaving a 1/2-inch rim. Place "scooped" bread in a food processor or blender, process bread to fine crumbs. Remove and measure 1 c. Reserve remaining crumbs for future use.

With the food processor or blender running, add the artichoke hearts and onion. Process until finely chopped. Scrape into a medium bowl. Stir in the sherry, cheese, yogurt, paprika, pepper, Tabasco sauce and 1 c. shrimp. Make filling one day in advance, if desired. Toss remaining shrimp with parsley shortly before serving.

Divide mixture and spoon into baguettes, spreading to edges to prevent drying. Bake, uncovered, in a preheated 425 degree F. oven for 15 minutes and remove. Turn oven to broil and arrange parsley-covered shrimp on top of baguettes and broil until lightly browned, 1 to 2 minutes. Serve two halves per person, or serve as finger food and cut baguettes crosswise into 1-inch wide slices. Makes 12 pieces and serves 6.

CEHS loses close homecoming contest

The Coast Episcopal Red Raiders boys varsity basketball team dropped only its second district game at Saturday's homecoming in a tough 62-57 loss to Chamberlain-Hunt Academy.

The loss moved the Raiders (7-2 in the Mississippi Private School Association South A) out of first place in district for the first time this year.

"We lost the game through our own actions rather than theirs," said Coach Keith McQueen after the game.

"The kids did a great job overall, but we did not execute our game plan well. Our failure to deal with their 1-3-1 three quarter court press did us in."

"Our kids gave a great effort in the fourth quarter, coming back from a 17-point deficit to lose by only 5 points."

"We are a very young team and are playing with only six players, half of them in junior high. It is a lot to ask of eighth graders to play against Shane Humphries."

Humphries, a senior at Chamberlain-Hunt, dominated play with 25 points, 14 rebounds, 5 assists and 8 blocked shots.

Coast Episcopal's George Hlass hit for 20 and one 3-point goal, and pulled down 13 rebounds. Other scorers included Adam Farragut with 6 points, five steals and seven assists; Tommy Rumrill with 4 points and eight rebounds; and John Dane with 4 points.

The Raiders also dropped a win to Mobile Christian 75-51 Tuesday. Joey Fore scored a game-high 37 points, but the short-handed squad — down to four players after one fouled out in the second half — couldn't rally to a victory.

Other scorers included George Hlass with 6 points, Tommy Rumrill with 1, John Dane with 5 and the team's only 3-point goal, and Marty Vandermut with 2. Fore grabbed 16 rebounds and four steals, and blocked three shots; while Rumrill and Dane contributed five assists each.

"We've got to win Friday night against Rankin," said McQueen. "This will assure us a bye in our tournament and most likely a chance to see these guys again for a state playoff berth."

BHS Players of Month

James Ricks (left), a center, was selected as Bay High School Offensive Player of the Month for December. The 6'3" sophomore has averaged 14 points per game, scoring a game-high of 19 against Purvis, 13 against Perry Central and 18 against Northshore. Coach Mark Collins commented, "James is very valuable to our team's success. James' only weakness is his defense. On offense James is at his best when he is in the paint and with the ball. Since James is only a sophomore, he has two more years to improve on his game. I expect a lot from James in the future."

Travis Collins (right) was selected BHS December Defensive Player of the Month. A 6' junior point guard, he averaged five steals and four rebounds per game, and had a game-high of six steals against Purvis. He also quarterbacked the offense. Coach Collins said, "With Travis being just a junior I expect good things this year and next year. Along with being a good athlete he is also a good student. Travis participates in Interact, a community-minded club."

Hancock splits wins with PRC

Despite some fancy shooting from the Hancock High boys Saturday, the host Pearl River Central Blue Devils edged the Hawks 74-71 in the finals of the PRC Round Robin Tournament.

The Hawks netted 11 3-point goals, six of which came from leading scorer Kelton Ladner. Ladner set the pace for the Hawks with 22 points. Issac Thomas hit the double digits with 17 points and four 3-pointers, and Tracy Lee chipped in 13 and the other 3-point goal. Other Hawks scoring were Jeremy Bennett with 8, Kendall Mitchell with 6, Lance Wedgeworth with 4 and Barrett Lohman with 2. The Lady Hawks scared past the PRC girls Saturday to capture a 63-51 win.

HHS leader was Shantell Cuevas with 15 points, closely followed by Lashea Ladner with 14, Stacey Ladner with 13 and Vicki Cuevas with 10.

Also scoring were Angela Reynolds with 1, and Deserea Ladner, Chellie Ladner, Heather Kops and Tara Cevar with 2 each.

The Lady Hawks did not play Tuesday, but the boys team did, netting a 68-58 win over St. Stanislaus.

Scoring for the Hawks were Issac Thomas with 25 and two 3-point goals, Tracey Lee with 20, Kelton Ladner with 10 and two 3-pointers, Jeremy Bennett with 10, Barrett Lohman with 2 and Darin Acker with 1.

Rock-A-Chaws who hit the boards included Grady Thigpen with 13, Ryan Harrell and Mike Lee with 10 each, Trent Terrell with 8, Jay Hamilton with 6, E. Morris with 4, J.T. Wood and Jay Bishop with 2 each, and Steve Schruoff with 1.

The Hawks have a 14-9, 5-3 record for the season.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Brave fishermen catch specks, perch in inclement weather

It's time to go fishin' y'all. I think I've got this thing figured out; if there is some way that I can find a fishin' reel that is small enough, then we will be in business.

Because the way the weather has been this past week, we all need a new style of fishin' rod: one that will be special made for the type of rainy and cold weather that we have been having lately.

I figure that the ideal rod would be made like an ice pick with an umbrella on the other end. This type of equipment would allow the well-dressed fisherman to brave the months of January and February and not have to carry too much extra equipment.

The only real problem seems to be to find a way to mount your reel to the "iceumbrellapick" rod.

I wonder if they would come in light action or if they would only be made in heavy action. Of course, mounting the ferules would also be a problem.

The whole "iceumbrellapick" rod and reel system would look a little unusual to the average person, but it could be said that the average person would not be out in the weather fishing this past week anyhow. So, there now.

There are some reports coming in that the hale and hearty fishin' fanatics have caught a few fish in the past week.

Reports are coming in that in an area known as the "cut-off canal" in the Jourdan River around Diamondhead, that a few graduate school specks are being caught on a silver color Mirror Lure that has a black stripe down the side.

As I said, graduate school trout (trout over 5 pounds) are hitting on the Mirror Lure in this area but you gotta work the lure slow and deep.

The other fishin' catches have been on white perch.

A few reports claim catches in the Jourdan River and in Bayou LaCroix. But the catches would not divulge exactly where they caught the Sac-a-Lac. They would only say that they had the best results on the yellow jigs and that they used their "fish finders."

On another subject—I attended the hearing on mariculture at BMR this past week. This was quite an educational experience. Bet you didn't know that there is a difference between aquaculture and mariculture?

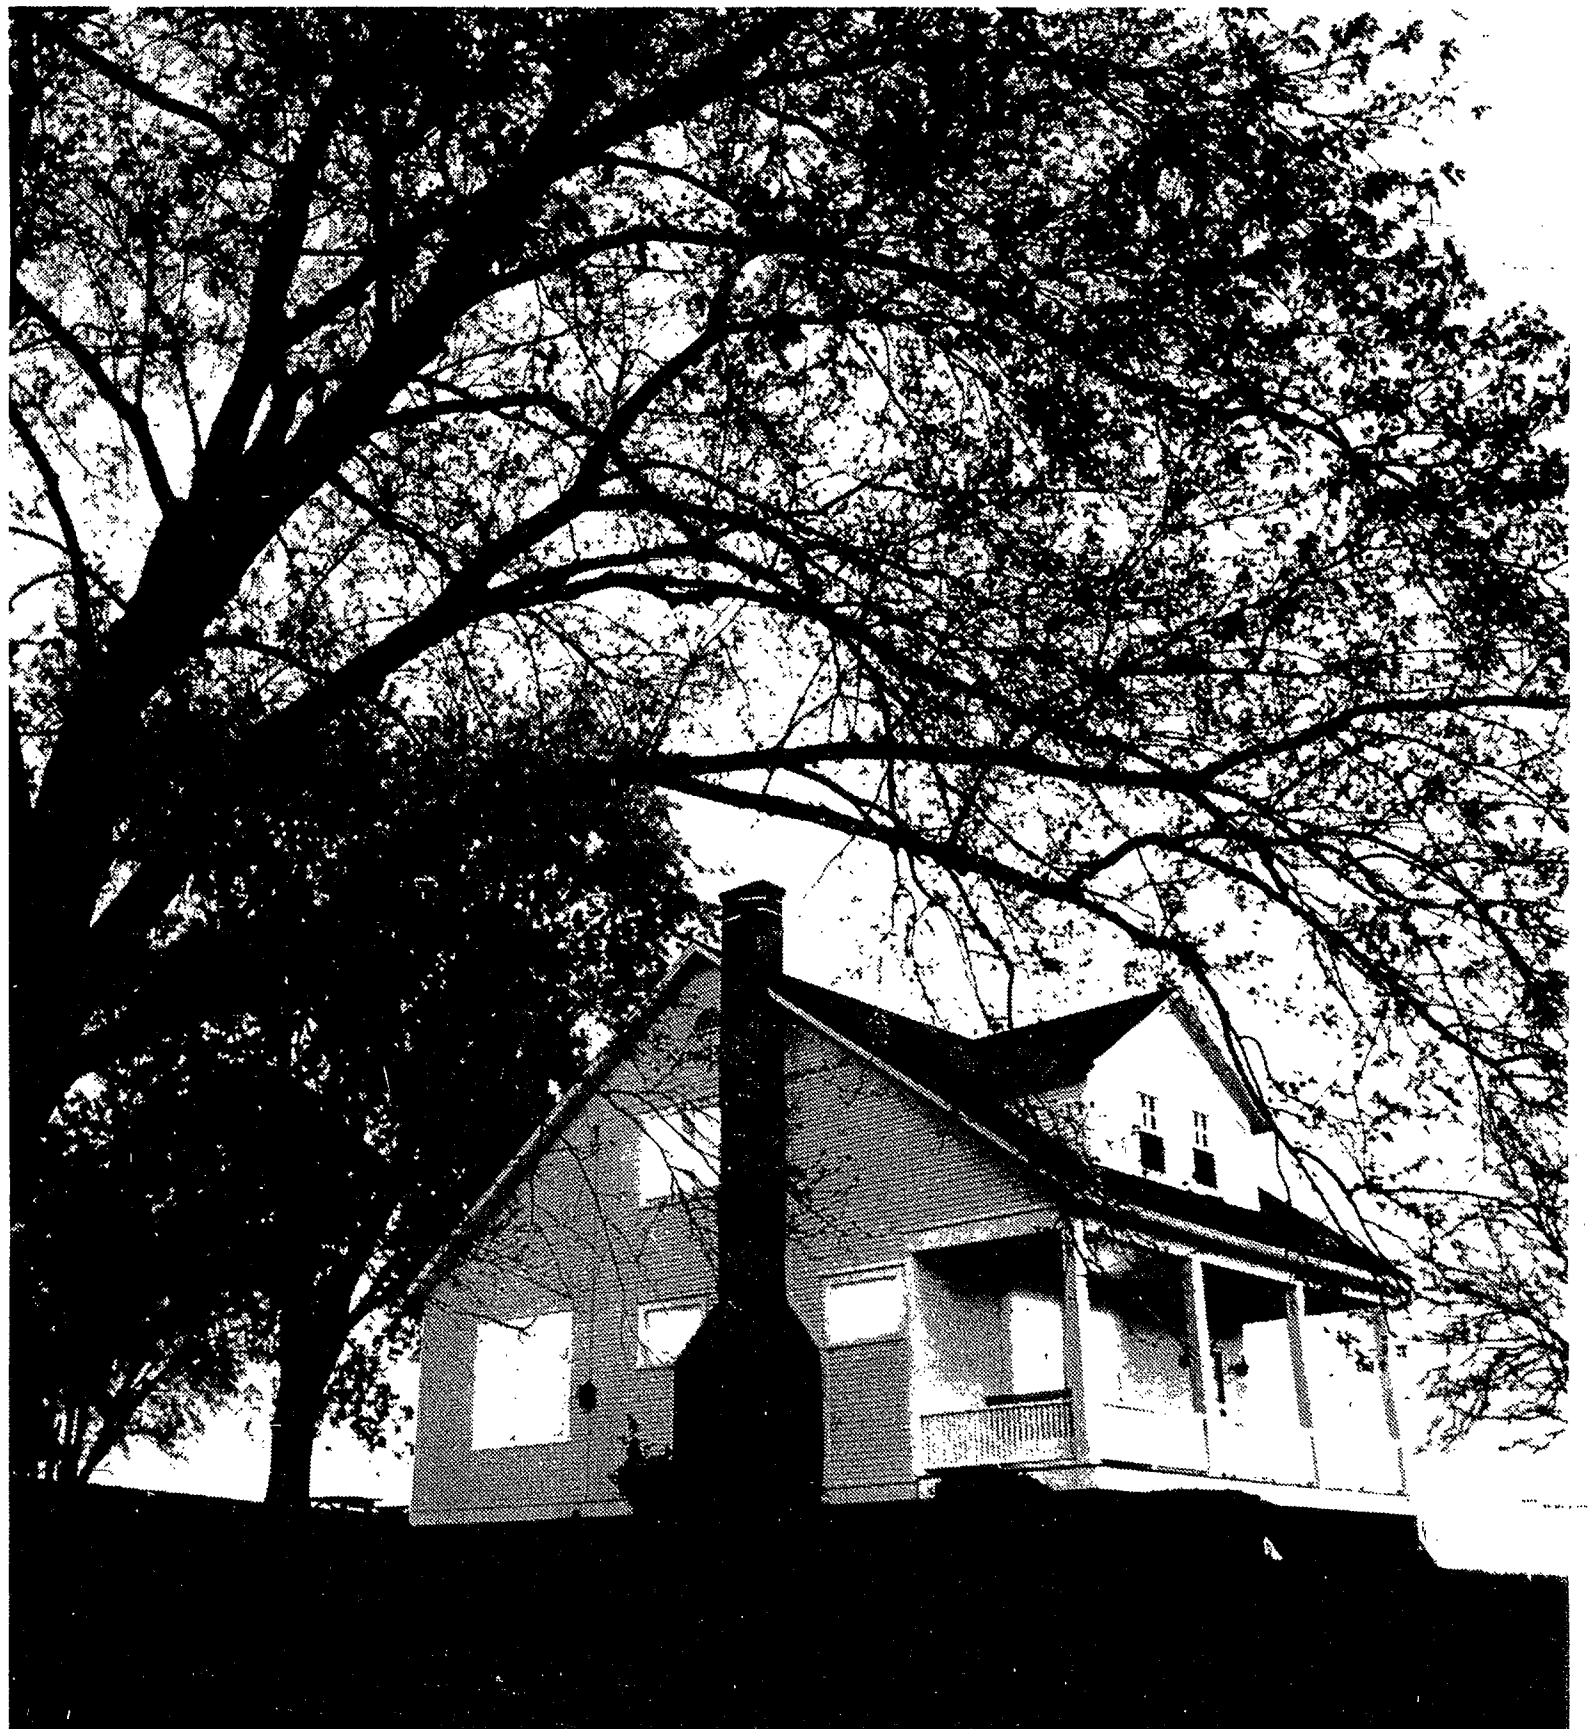

There were a lot of fancy words used to describe the two "cultures" but it seems to all boil down to—I think—that mariculture deals with salt water and aquaculture deals with fresh water.

After a couple of hours of bathymetric, hydrographic surveys, water columns, sparging of atmospheric air, biomass cycling, nitrogenous wastes, phytoplankton and zooplankton productivity, I figure the whole thing boils down to the simple fact that mariculture will remove the commercial pressure on red fish because enough can be grown and harvested to supply all the "blackened redfish" you can eat.

Larry Louis of BMR ran this meeting and I must say, he did an excellent job. The honest, sincere, attention to problems and question was greatly appreciated by everyone in attendance. The overall impression was one of informative, professional interaction.

This week's wonderful wise words: cooperation beats antagonism hands down.

Praise for BMR, turtle?

SECTION B

'See you at the big one'

East Hancock's unsung heroes

BY T. H. (DOC) TOUPS
Copyright 1992

It was a carrion-eyed, king hell fear monster and its roar snaked around my ankles and bit into a hard spot under my ribs. From the darkness, someone shouted, "It's going to blow!" and Bill Jarrell stared at the nozzle of his fire hose, moss glowed like dangling fuses. In the shadows, a small knot of firemen worked feverishly next to their truck as more emergency vehicles arrived. Headlights illuminated a woman's face in the street. She cried uncontrollably as smoke and steam collected around the base of the house and salary and little public recognition. They train on their own time and use their own automobiles and gasoline to participate in department functions.

They work long hours at the station and are frequently called out at ungodly hours to do dangerous things for strangers that many to have that particular question pursued by an interviewer.

None make any special claim to bravery, though their courage is evident on countless fire call-outs. They are all keenly aware of the danger potential of their avocation, but are more comfortable discussing it in which was now barely dripping water. Silhouetted by flames, he and his wife Pat turned and looked for some place to run. Standing well behind them, I dropped the camera from my eye, turned and looked for some place to run. There seemed to be a fence and a tree line no more than 300 miles away.

Bill had been trying to cool a large propane tank, immediately adjacent to a two-story house, which was completely enveloped in fire. The water he played over its surface erupted into great racks of steam. Now, there seemed to be a problem with a pump. When the water stopped, the super-heated steel dried instantly.

As we sprinted away, radiant heat ignited a nearby oak, and its Spanish seemed to sever its connection with the ground.

A combination of luck and the arrival of more water prevented the tank from exploding, though the home was completely gutted. No one was hurt... this time.

Bill and Pat Jarrell are rookie firefighters with the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department. Bill recently completed a 12-hour basic firefighting course. Pat has had no formal training. They have five children and live in a modest Shoreline Park home. Like many of their fellow firemen, some of their relatives disapprove of their involvement with the department and worry about the risks they are exposed to.

There are currently 26 firefighters on the East Hancock roster. They receive no perfectly sane people would be reluctant to do for their own families. There is never enough money, and there are always equipment shortages. Sometimes, the department budget is stretched enough to buy them coffee and donuts.

Fire represents a very basic terror; it is older than even Man's atavistic fear of edged weapons and probably has a closer relationship to our dread of lightning and wild beasts howling in the night.

The firefighters tend to become inarticulate when questioned about their fears and motivations. When asked why they joined the department, "To help the community," is the almost universal response, and most of them are clearly reluctant abstract, rather than personal terms, and they seem to be genuinely embarrassed by any attempt to make them out to be anything more than "normal folks."

Like all specialists, they have their own jargon: "Bunker gear" is the term used to refer to the fireman's protective clothing. This dates back to the earliest firehouse practice of firemen keeping their helmets, coats and boots next to their bunks, ready to be donned at a moment's notice.

"See you at the big one," is the farewell they trade after almost any fire. The jocular inference being that no matter how bad any given fire was, they still haven't confronted "The Big One" yet.

Even the smallest residential fire can represent a danger-saturated brew of hazards to anyone faced by it. Contemporary homes contain the ingredients of a pyrotechnician's nightmare; synthetics which emit toxic combustion by-products, flammable liquids of all sorts, small arms ammunition, poisons, oxidizers, compressed fuel gasses, aerosols and electrical wiring are only a few of the modern fire hazards. More conventional, but no less predictable threats include smoke, heat and the possibility that whatever structure is being negotiated could collapse on its salvors at any time.

During an industrial fire, all of the residential perils can be present, though on an enormously larger scale. Additionally, industrial fires represent a greater potential for the firefighters to be exposed to dangerous, poisonous or explosive materials. Due to mutual aid agreements with other departments and the number of major thoroughfares which pass through their area, the East Hancock firefighters are sometimes called upon to deal with these types of fires.

Most of the firefighters have had limited or no toxic substance training. As populations increase and technology becomes ever more sophisticated, toxic material and exotic substance fires are factors which the department's limited resources must contend with.

Training is a major concern of East Hancock Chief Kenneth Jorgensen. Several of his people are scheduled to participate in a toxic hazards course next month, but he would like to see more training of all types, especially in conjunction with other departments, to ensure uniformity of response. Much of East Hancock's training takes the form of informal fire station sessions. While these are helpful, Jorgensen readily concedes that more formal courses are necessary.

Jorgensen has been with the department since 1986 and has been its chief for 1½ years. In addition to training, he said that one of his biggest current problems is equipment.

"I have 26 firefighters and 13 sets of bunker gear," he explained. Another need is radio monitors to instantly inform the firefighters of a call-out. There aren't nearly enough to go around and some personnel are currently contacted by telephone, wasting valuable time.

When asked what he considers his people's most valuable characteristic, Jorgensen didn't hesitate with his reply. "They are dependable," he said, and added, "I can really rely on them for whatever the department needs." Dependability is important in the firefighters and not only on emergency calls. Much of their time is spent on mundane, but essential tasks around the station.

Sandy Smith, the secretary, tries to keep up with all of their paper work, and her husband William handles much of the vehicle and equipment maintenance. All of the firefighters pitch in from time to time on construction and improvement projects at the station. They are currently building a water reservoir on pilings which will allow them to fill their tankers more rapidly. A quick walk through the station reveals the intense, almost proprietary pride which members take in the department. The vehicles, some of them older models, are all clean and well-maintained, and the building's interior is spotless. The firefighters are frequently heard to refer to "my truck," "his boots," or make some other inference of ownership to what is public property.

They lavish care and attention on department equipment which most would never consider devoting to the family sedan. County millage taxes, insurance rebates, private and business donations purchase and support the department's equipment. The absolutely essential human resources who use and maintain the hardware do not cost the county a cent. All other considerations notwithstanding, they represent one of the best bargains in modern local government.

It is the people, ultimately, who make up any fire department. Though it may able characteristic, Jorgensen didn't hesitate with his reply. "They are dependable," he said, and added, "I can really rely on them for whatever the department needs." Dependability is important in the firefighters and not only on emergency calls. Much of their time is spent on mundane, but essential tasks around the station.

Sandy Smith, the secretary, tries to keep up with all of their paper work, and her husband William handles be hard to discern the faces behind helmet shields, or identify the bodies under heavy bunker gear, the firefighters are like any other people; they have their lives, loves and personal dramas.

During the many weeks I spent covering this story, one of my most poignant moments came immediately after a residential fire. The building later proved to be unoccupied, though the firefighters had no way of

St. Clare Christmas

The students of St. Clare School honored the birthday of Jesus last month with a Christmas pageant. Clockwise from upper left are: two scenes from "Do You Hear What I Hear", pre-kindergarten; "C-H-R-I-S-T-M-A-S", first grade; "Prayer of St. Francis", sixth grade; "I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing", kindergarten; "Prayer for Peace", seventh grade; "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day", second grade; "The Peace Carol", third grade; and Nativity Scene, eighth grade. Also performed, but not pictured, were "The Little Drummer Boy", fifth grade, and "O God of Love, O King of Peace", fourth grade.

knowing that at the time. Ammunition was exploding inside of the house when we arrived. Its staccato racket began to subside as a muffled explosion blew down a rear wall. A fiberglass speed boat sat in the driveway and burned fiercely.

The firefighters attacked it with a ferocity barely equal to the flames, hoping to keep the fuel tanks from adding to the conflagration. Amid the dragging of hoses and shouts of commands, a brick wall collapsed in front of the house, sending flaming debris and shards of hot masonry flying in all directions.

Pat Jarrell was hit by a piece of this and began to double over in pain. She was tending hose for firefighter Jerry Smith, who was in the midst of the inferno. Pat straightened up and continued to drag firehose while Jerry beat back flames. Many firefighters were present, and eventually the blaze was extinguished.

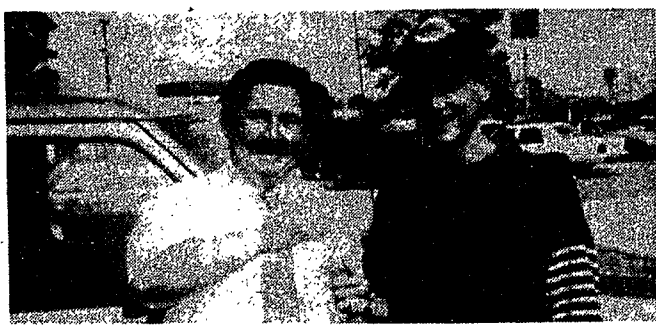

Pat received a nasty bruise on her leg, someone else was slightly cut by glass shards and yet another went home with a heat blister. No injuries were reported.

As everyone was wrapping up equipment and preparing to go home, I overheard Pat and Jerry talking. They didn't mention the fire. It seemed to be the farthest thing from their minds. Jerry's daughter had been suffering from a severe bout of flu, and Pat was grilling him as to her condition, medications being administered and what exactly she could do to help. Jerry countered by saying that she'd be just fine in a few days.

It may be that what separates volunteer firefighters from most of us is their willingness to clear the stage of their drama, at a moment's notice, when the fire monitor announces a call-out. In that instant, they voluntarily decide to make our drama their own.

Coast Electric's essay contest open to juniors

Coast Electric Power Association has an opportunity for two high school juniors to visit the nation's capital in June 1992. The Youth Tour Essay Contest is now accepting entries from 11th grade students who reside in Hancock, Harrison or Pearl River counties.

"Students simply need to write and tell us in 500 words how they would organize a cooperative business to serve a need in their community," announced Kathy Fernandez of Coast Electric Power Association.

"The Youth Tour is coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association which organized the first Youth Tour in 1964," stated Robert J. Occhi, Coast Electric general manager.

In addition to the Washington trip scheduled for June 7-13, Coast Electric's winners will also be eligible to compete for the title of State Representative to serve on the NRECA Youth's Consulting Board.

"The Youth Board provides students additional travel opportunities throughout the year. They organize the next year's tour, participate in the NRECA annual meeting and assist with various other special projects, like a one-week internship to work in Congressional offices," said Fernandez. The state winner will be selected at the Mississippi Youth Leadership Seminar March 18-20, sponsored by the Electric Power Associations of Mississippi.

Librarian Kay Cavode supervises the passing of books

Pass library book brigade

Fourth, fifth and sixth grade students from St. Paul Catholic School in Pass Christian recently took part in a "book brigade" at the Pass Christian Public Library. The students formed a human chain to move books from the old section of the library into the new children's wing. Borrowing the idea from the bucket brigade, an early method of fighting fires, head librarian Kay Cavode asked for the students' help, which was supported by St. Paul principal Sister Mila Sones. Both expressed hope that the children will feel a greater sense of ownership in the library as a result of their participation in the project.

During the construction of the children's wing, all the students of St. Paul donated money made from recycling to the building fund. After the book brigade was completed, the girls from the sixth grade class presented to the library a booklet on the brown pelican that they had done for a class assignment. Sally James, children's librarian, accepted the booklet and said it would be placed in the library's vertical file so that it can be used by others doing research on the brown pelican.

Friends of Hancock Elementary School 'Drive for Education' at Gerry Lane Motors

Hancock North Central Elementary has the opportunity this week to receive free Apple computers, Magnavox audio-visual equipment and Compton's Encyclopedias from Gerry Lane Motors in Bay St. Louis.

"Driving for Education" is a program designed to address the growing need for more computers and related educational tools in elementary and secondary schools, said a Gerry Lane spokesman.

According to Hancock Elementary principal Bettye McLeod, the school's goal is to receive computers. "Computer skills are becoming a necessary part of every school's curriculum. With the help of this program, we hope to some day place a computer in every classroom," she said.

HNCE parents and friends are encouraged to visit Gerry Lane and test drive a vehicle, now through January 25. When a pre-determined number of "proof of drive" certificates are tallied, the school may select equipment from five different award levels.

There is no limit to the amount of free awards a school may receive.

Gerry Lane is one of a number of Chevrolet/Geo dealerships nationwide offering the "Driving for Education" program. The program is open to all public, private and parochial schools in the Gerry Lane service area.

For additional information, call Denise Wilkinson at the school, 255-7641.
